Test of Time Enterprises, LLC and Meijer's, Inc., have entered into a sales agreement to sell the educational board game "The Whole Story"; at the DeWitt, Jackson and Lansing Meijer's Stores.

The educational board game "The Whole Story" was created and designed by a diverse group of inventors, Sylvia Alexander, Robert Cavin, Jr. , and Germaine Redding all of Lansing, Michigan - the Capital City. This phenomenal board game "The Whole Story" is on the cutting edge, and it is making a revolutionary change in the lives of our children.

These entrepreneurs have humbled themselves by canceling a lucrative contract that involved manufacturing the game in China, in order to demonstrate their commitment to Michigan's economy by choosing a Lansing-based manufacturer, Peckham Inc., to manufacture "The Whole Story". This is a revolutionary approach to business in these modern times. "Our society is at a point where businesses need to show their commitment to their communities, not to the dollar. If our communities are strong, our businesses will also prosper and be strong." That is the credo of these dynamic entrepreneurs.

Test of Time Enterprises, LLC's (TOTE) primary focus is to help children excel educationally, develop them socially, and to teach them how to operate at a higher educational level while having fun. With each purchase, a portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Children's Miracle Network Fund, which supports pediatric care in over 170 hospitals across the country.

You can help support TOTE's quest to educate Lansing's children, and assist with financial aide disbursements to the Children's Miracle Network Fund by purchasing a game from one of the Meijer's Stores located in DeWitt, Jackson or Lansing. We commission you to spread the word to all your friends and family to help make this game a success by placing it in the hands of all our children and schools.

Thank you for your support and patronage.
